RESULTS OF THE WAR

The following were the major results of the First World War:

1. The Treaty of Versailles (June 28,1919):

- The Allied powers , met in a conference first in Versailles, nearby Paris, and later in Paris, between January and June 1919.

- Delegates from 32 countries participated in the Paris Peace Conference but the terms of the peace treaties were decided by Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States, David Lloyd George-Prime Minister of Britain, and George Clemenceau, Prime Minister of France.

- The defeated countries were not represented at the conference. Russia was also excluded from the conference.

- As a result of the discussions at the Paris Conference- The Treaty of Versailles was signed on June 28,1919
- It ended the War.
- The basis of the treaty's negotiations was the American President Wilson's Fourteen Points.
- The treaty was designed to prevent Germany from going to war again.

Europe after World War I

Which treaty ended the First World War?

- A. Treaty of Paris
- B. Treaty of Versailles
- C. Treaty of Vienna
- D. Treaty of Berlin

TERMS OF THE TREATY

(i) The Treaty declared Germany responsible for aggression.

(ii) Germany was required to pay for the loss and damages suffered by the Allies during the war. The amount of reparations was fixed at 33 billion dollars. Germany had to give merchant ships to the Allies as compensation and had to supply huge quantities of coal to France, Italy and Belgium for ten years.

(iii) The area of the Rhine Valley was to be demilitarised and the German territory west of Rhine was to be occupied by the Allied Troops for 15 years.

(iv) Germany lost Alsace and Lorraine to France; Malmedy to Belgium, Schleswig to Denmark. Danzig became a Free Port in the Polish territory.

(v) Germany gave parts of her pre-War territory to Denmark, Belgium, Poland, Czechoslovakia and France.

(vi) The coal mines in the German area called Saar were given to France for 15 years and the area was to be governed by the League of Nations.

(vii) Germany lost all her colonies to the victorious Allies-Britain, Belgium, South Africa and Portugal.

(viii) German colonies in the Pacific and the areas under her control in China were given to Japan. China was aligned with the Allies during the War but her areas under German control were given away to Japan.

(ix) The German Army was restricted to a force of 1,00,000 soldiers and the Navy was limited to 15,000 men and 24 ships. The Air Force and submarines were banned.

(x) The Treaty affirmed the complete independence of Belgium, Poland, Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia.

(xi) The Covenant of the League of Nations was added to the Treaty of Versailles.

Rule

What was the amount of reparations Germany was required to pay according to the Treaty of Versailles?

- A. 33 million dollars
- B. 33 billion dollars
- C. 30 billion dollars
- D. 30 million dollars

(v) Mention any two ways in which the Treaty of Versailles affected the German Miliary Force. [2]

9.1. The final act of the long-drawn-out negotiations took place at Versailles on Saturday afternoon and to-day Germany and the Allies - always with the exception of America - are at peace. Peace is a blessed word and both the word and the fact are welcome to-day. So far as Germany is concerned, there is for the present, an end of strife and at least a formal return to the decent relations of civilised states.

2. Territorial Rearrangements:

- The period after the War saw the beginning of the end of the European supremacy in the world.
- Economically and militarily, the United States surpassed Europe to emerge as a world power.
- The peace treaties signed after the War transformed the political map of the world, particularly of Europe.
- Three ruling dynasties were destroyed -the Romanov in Russia during the War itself, the Hohenzollern in Germany and the Habsburg in Austria-Hungary.
- Soon after the War, the rule of Ottomans came to an end in Turkey.

2. Territorial Rearrangements:

- Austria and Hungary became separate independent States.
- Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia emerged as independent States.
- Thus, the War gave a serious blow to the autocratic monarchial system and led to the development of democracy in Europe.

2. Territorial Rearrangements:

- Empires having different cultures were dissolved and independent states having distinct cultures emerged after the War.
- These included Finland, Estonia, Latvia, Lithuania and Yugoslavia.
- Alsace-Lorraine was restored to France and Schleswig-Holstein was restored to Denmark.

Which area was given to France for 15 years as part of the Treaty of Versailles?

- A. Alsace-Lorraine
- B. Saar
- C. Schleswig
- D. Malmedy

3. Formation of the League of Nations:

- One of the most important results of the War was the creation of the League of Nations.
- World leaders were convinced that there must be a mechanism to prevent War and promote international cooperation. This resulted in the setting up of the League of Nations.
- An important part of the peace treaties was the Covenant of the League of Nations.
- Wilson's Fourteen Points included the creation of an international organisation for the preservation of peace and to guarantee the independence of all states.
- Thus, the League of Nations was created as a world organisation of all independent States in 1920.

AIMS AND OBJECTIVES OF THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS

(i) All the States of the world were prohibited from entering into any secret treaties and alliances.

(ii) The member-States were not supposed to maintain huge armies, warships and destructive armaments.

(iii) All States were to respect each other's independence.

(iv) All States were to refer their mutual disputes to the League of Nations for a peaceful settlement.

AIMS AND OBJECTIVES OF THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS

(v) The member-States were to take necessary action as directed by the League against any State which tried to disturb world peace and order.

(vi) Apart from political functions, the League of Nations was supposed to promote cultural, social and economic cooperation among the member-States.

WHY THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS FAILED ?

1. League of Nations could not maintain world peace for long
2. Two major countries—Germany and the Soviet Union-were not allowed to become its members for many years; while India, which was not independent, was made a member.
3. The United States which had played an important part in the setting up of the League ultimately decided not to join it.

4. The rise of dictatorships in Italy and Germany led to the weakening of the League of Nations and it failed in its basic object of maintaining peace in the world.

5. Unfortunately, the League came to an end as Hitler attacked on Poland which began the World War II (1939-1945).
