Brutus Stand, ho!	BRUTUS Halt!
LUCILLIUS Give the word, ho, and stand.	LUCILLIUS Hey, pass on the command to halt.
BRUTUS What now, Lucillius? Is Cassius near?	BRUTUS What's going on, Lucillius? Is Cassius nearby?
LUCILLIUS He is at hand, and Pindarus is come To do you salutation from his master.	LUCILLIUS He's close by, and Pindarus has come to greet you on his master's behalf.
BRUTUS He greets me well.	BRUTUS He has sent a noble man to greet me.

Topic: Julius Caesar Act 4 Scene 2

—Your master, Pindarus, In his own change or by ill officers Hath given me some worthy cause to wish Things done, undone. But if he be at hand I shall be satisfied.	[To PINDARUS] Your master, Pindarus—either because his feelings for me have changed or because he's been influenced by bad advice—has made me wish we could undo some of the things we've done. But if he is nearby, I'll get an explanation.
PINDARUS I do not doubt But that my noble master will appear Such as he is, full of regard and honor.	PINDARUS I don't doubt that my noble master will prove himself to be what he is: respectful and honorable.
BRUTUS He is not doubted.	BRUTUS I don’t doubt him.

Topic: Julius Caesar Act 4 Scene 2

A word, Lucillius. [takes LUCILLIUS aside] How he received you, let me be resolved.	[To LUCILLIUS] Lucillius, can I speak with you? [He takes LUCILLIUS aside] Please tell me, how did Cassius greet you?
LUCILLIUS With courtesy and with respect enough, But not with such familiar instances	LUCILLIUS With suitable courtesy and respect, but not with real friendship
Nor with such free and friendly conference As he hath used of old.	or with the same open and friendly conversation that he used to greet me before.
BRUTUS Thou hast described A hot friend cooling.	BRUTUS You've described a formerly good friend who's now cooling off.

Topic: Julius Caesar Act 4 Scene 2

Ever note, Lucillius, When love begins to sicken and decay, It useth an enforcèd ceremony.	Note this, Lucillius: when a love starts to fade and wither, what remains is strained formality.
There are no tricks in plain and simple faith. But hollow men, like horses hot at hand, Make gallant show and promise of their mettle.	There are no tricks hiding behind plain and simple friendship. But insincere men make a big show of their courage, like horses who are too spirited when a rider first takes the reins.
BRUTUS But when they should endure the bloody spur,	BRUTUS But when the going gets tough,
They fall their crests and, like deceitful jades, Sink in the trial.	hey drop their necks and fail the test, like the poor horse they truly are.
Comes his army on?	Is Cassius' army approaching?

Lucillius:

will spend this night

They mean this night in Saedis to be quartered
The greater part, the horse in general,
Are come with Cassius.

Bautius:

Hark! he is arrived.
March gently on to meet him.

CASSIUS Brutus, this sober form of yours hides wrongs. And when you do them—	CASSIUS Brutus, this dignified manner of yours hides the fact that you've wronged me. And when you do these wrongs—
BRUTUS Cassius, be content. Speak your griefs softly. I do know you well.	BRUTUS Cassius, keep calm. We know each other well, so you don't have to shout your grievances.
Before the eyes of both our armies here, Which should perceive nothing but love from us, Let us not wrangle. Bid them move away.	Let's not argue in front of our armies, which should see nothing but love between us. Tell them to move away.
Then in my tent, Cassius, enlarge your griefs, And I will give you audience.	Then, in my tent, you can fully explain your grievances, and I'll listen.

Topic: Julius Caesar Act 4 Scene 2

CASSIUS Pindarus, Bid our commanders lead their charges off A little from this ground.	CASSIUS Pindarus, tell our commanders to lead their soldiers a little ways away from this spot.
BRUTUS Lucillius, do you the like. And let no man Come to our tent till we have done our conference. Let Lucius and Titinius guard our door.	BRUTUS Lucillius, you do the same. ACT 4 SCENE 3

(BRUTUS AND CASSIUS REMAIN ONSTAGE, NOW IN BRUTUS' TENT.)

Topic: Julius Caesar Act 4 Scene 3

CASSIUS That you have wronged me doth appear in this: You have condemned and noted Lucius Pella For taking bribes here of the Sardians,	CASSIUS This is how you have wronged me: you damned and publicly disgraced Lucius Pella for taking bribes from the Sardinians.
Wherein my letters, praying on his side Because I knew the man, were slighted off.	Then you ignored my letters, in which I asked you to be lenient with him because I know the man.
BRUTUS You wronged yourself to write in such a case.	BRUTUS You wronged yourself to write in support of such a man.

Topic: Julius Caesar Act 4 Scene 3

CASSIUS In such a time as this it is not meet That every nice offense should bear his comment.	CASSIUS In a time like this, it is not appropriate to focus on every little offense.
BRUTUS Let me tell you, Cassius, you yourself Are much condemned to have an itching palm,	BRUTUS Let me tell you, Cassius, that you yourself are often accused of being corrupt,
To sell and mart your offices for gold To undeservers.	of selling positions in your army to undeserving men.
CASSIUS I "an itching palm!" You know that you are Brutus that speak this, Or, by the gods, this speech were else your last.	CASSIUS Me, "corrupt!" You know that if you were not Brutus, then I swear by the gods, that speech would have been your last.

Topic: Julius Caesar Act 4 Scene 3

BRUTUS The name of Cassius honors this corruption, And chastisement doth therefore hide his head.	BRUTUS Cassius, your honorable reputation masks this corruption, and so it is not condemned.
CASSIUS Chastisement!	CASSIUS Condemned!
BRUTUS Remember March, the ides of March remember. Did not great Julius bleed for justice' sake? What villain touched his body, that did stab, And not for justice?	BRUTUS Remember March. March 15th. Remember. Didn't great Caesar die for the sake of justice? Any man who stabbed him for reasons other than justice is a villain.

Topic: Julius Caesar Act 4 Scene 3

What, shall one of us That struck the foremost man of all this world But for supporting robbers, shall we now Contaminate our fingers with base bribes,	What? Did we strike down the most powerful man in the world in part because he allowed tax-collectors to act corruptly, only to dirty our own hands with immoral bribes now?
And sell the mighty space of our large honors For so much trash as may be graspèd thus?	And sell our reputations for as much money as we can grab?
I had rather be a dog and bay the moon Than such a Roman.	I'd rather be a dog, howling at the moon, than be that kind of Roman.
CASSIUS Brutus, bait not me. I'll not endure it. You forget yourself To hedge me in.	CASSIUS Brutus, don't hassle me. I won't take it. You're forgetting yourself if you think you can limit my authority

Brutus's tone in the above line can be best described as _____.

A) disappointed

B) argumentative

C) ~~vengeful~~

D) dismissive

Topic: Julius Caesar Act 4 Scene 3

BRUTUS "All this?" Ay, more. Fret till your proud heart break. Go show your slaves how choleric you are And make your bondmen tremble. Must I budge? Must I observe you?	BRUTUS "All this?" Yes, and more. Rage until your proud heart breaks. Go show your slaves how angry you are, and make your servants tremble. But must I give way? Must I watch out for you?
Must I stand and crouch Under your testy humor? By the gods, You shall digest the venom of your spleen, Though it do split you.	Must I hide in fear when you're in a bad mood? By the gods, before I'll respond to you, you'll have to swallow the poison of your bad temper until it makes you burst.
For from this day forth, I'll use you for my mirth, yea, for my laughter, When you are waspish.	From this day on, you'll only make me laugh when you get hotheaded.

Thank You!
